BICKNELL BROS. CORNER.

DON'T WAIT UNTIL THE

CREAM

IS ALL

GONE

If you do you must humbly submit to skimmed milk. Past experience teaches us all that some time during the summer season, comfort and economy demand thin clothing. Thin clothing is economical because it is inexpensive and saves the wear on your heavy garments. Past experience also teaches us that everybody postpones buying summer comfort in thin goods until driven to it by unendurable exhaustion from heat. This means that everybody comes at one time, and in the scramble somebody gets left.

Why not profit by past experience? Buy your thin goods at once, while the sizes are full, and thus give your clothing man a chance to fill in sizes for the other fellows that come later. You must have them sooner or later, and particularly in thin goods the first choice is always the cream.

You will save nothing and perspire much by waiting. If you want gauzy wearing apparel (that is honest) for torrid weather buy it at

LOCAL NEWS.

If you see it in the Townsman, it's news to be relied upon; if it is news and so, you'll see it in the Townsman.

The auditors met last night. Town pay day will occur next Monday.

Nathan Gage, Jr., has returned to his home in town from Dartmouth college.

Andover and Medford will meet on the P. A. campus tomorrow afternoon at 3.30 o'clock.

Miss Mary Bancroft, Cecil K. Bancroft and Phillips Bancroft have been in town this week.

W. H. Higgins' barge conveyed the Unitarians of North Andover on their picnic Wednesday.

A meeting of Andover Council, No. 65, R. A., will be held this evening at 8 o'clock in Arcanum hall.

A false alarm of fire was rung in from box 25 at 3 o'clock Sunday morning. The police have no clue.

Miss Clara R. Boynton of Nashville, Tenn., is spending her vacation with Mrs. J. H. Merrill, 17 Salem street.

It has been decided that the sessions of the Free church Sunday school be discontinued during the month of August.

At the West church Sunday evening, Hon. Gorham D. Gilman of Boston, delivered an interesting address on Hawaii.

Miss Mary F. Mason of Park street, has returned from Swampscott, where she has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Charles W. Tucker.

Miss Lucia G. Merrill has returned from Ventnor, where she has been spending three weeks at the seaside with her sister, Mrs. Wilson.

Alexander Dundas, who is employed at the American Woolen Company's mill in Moosup, Conn., has been spending a few days at his home in town.

The Everett Cricket team defeated Andover in an exhibition game on the local crease Saturday, 90 to 38. Thorp did excellent work for the visitors and Gordon excelled for Andover.

Jack Gallagher, who has been employed as a barber by William Ledwell for the past two years, has gone to Dover, N. H., where his family is located, and will be employed in a shoe factory.

The quarantine was removed from the house of Morris Collins, Summer street, last Wednesday. Now there is only one smallpox patient in town, Mrs John Collins, who is on the read to a complete recovery before long.

Vice Principal Alfred E. Stearns returned Thursday from Princeton, N. J., where he had gone to interview the authorities of Princeton in regard to the recent examination trouble. Mr. Stearns will make a statement to the press in a few days.

Charles Lord, about 16 years of age, was quite badly injured on the Fourth. His face was burned with powder, the result of the unexpected discharge of a small cannon. His injuries were treated by Dr. Torrey.

In North Andover, the new postal arrangements have gone into effect. Besides the small letter boxes, the government has put in three large standing boxes as a receptacle for papers and parcels. Andover should have something of that sort about town.

The outing of the Tyer Rubber Company arranged for August 2, promises to be a most enjoyable occasion. The tickets will soon be placed on sale and can be obtained from members of the committee consisting of James Daly, George May, James Kyle and Gordon May.

A jolly party is spending the week at Lakeview, the pretty cottage of Selectman B. Frank Smith, at Haggetts pond. In the party are the Misses Edith Freeman and Elvira Eglee of Brookline, and Peter Smith and George Stevens of the Schnectady Locomotive Works at Schnectady, N. Y.

The bills for the small pox in town are beginning to come in. Dr. Magee's bill up to date is about $800, while Agent Smith of the Board of Health has one of about $200. The total amount called for by this lot of bills will be nearly $1500. The town will probably pay out for the cases this spring in the neighborhood of $2500.

Many residents of Andover who are members of Crystal Rebekah lodge of Lawrence will enjoy a lawn party and band concert at the home of Miss Hosmer at North Andover next Wednesday evening, July 16. The North Andover band has been engaged to give a concert from 8 to 10 o'clock. Admission to the grounds will be by ticket. All Odd Fellows and Rebekahs are invited.

The report has gained currency that the Boston & Reading cars would run direct to Methuen soon, and that the track across Essex street, Lawrence, at the junction with Broadway was constructed for that purpose. Supt. Lane of the Lawrence division was asked whether or not this was intended, and replied that he was not aware that this would be done. In fact he was strongly of the opinion that no such thing was intended when the tracks were put in, as he understood that the work had been done for another purpose. At any rate he has received no intimation from headquarters that the Reading cars would run to Methuen. So it appears that the report was only a rumor, and had no foundation in fact.

Miss Mary G. Perley left Wednesday, the 9th, for Saco. She expects to spend July and August in Maine and New Brunswick.

An auction sale of the household furniture belonging to the late Dr. Bancroft will be held at his former residence on Chapel Avenue, Saturday, July 19, at 2 p. m., by auctioneer Barnett Rogers.

Anyone desiring to do summer work in music will be welcome in Miss Torrey's vacation class, where attention is given to hand and finger gymnastics as taught by Virgil Clavier method. Particulars can be had at 4 Florence street.

Gooseberries! Whew!! As big as strawberries, in fact so big that half a dozen make a big handful and actually weighing 2 1-2 ounces to the half dozen. This is the gooseberry record at the garden of R. K. Cole on Elm street; Can anybody match it?

Next Wednesday night the Atlanta University quartet will give a concert of plantation songs in the South Church vestry. This quartet excited great enthusiasm at the recent student conference in Northfield. Rev. Edward Ware, chaplain of Atlanta, will speak of the college work. A collection will be taken.

The following cricket teams will represent Andover tomorrow: First vs. Zions at Lowell—Rhodes, Bruce, Sullivan, Riding, Black, Soutar, Ross, Reddihough, Ritchie, McDermott, Gordon; Second vs. Bunting at Lowell—Callum, Fairlie, Craig, G. Falconer, H. Callum, W. Coutts, Hilton, A. Haddon, D. Falconer, J. Munroe, Lindsay.

It is reported that an iron building 170 feet long and three stories high is being constructed by the Berlin Bridge Company for the American Degreasing Company of New York, which recently purchased the Frye Village mills property, and that when the building is completed it will be brought here and erected on their land in Frye Village.

Rev. F. R. Shipman of the South church, assisted by Rev. W. J. Twort of the Wood Memorial church, Lawrence, conducted the services over the remains of the late Mrs. Mary A. Wardwell, last week Thursday, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Desmond, jr., at 45 Bigelow street, Lawrence. The bearers were D. C. Bunker, Lawrence, E. C. Pike, Andover, John Stark and P. Scott of Ballardvale. Burial was in the South Church cemetery.

The summer school at the Academy will open on the 6th of August. Those in charge expect about the same number of students as last year. Mr. Stearns will be obliged to give up his connection with the school owing to the increased duties connected with his new position as vice principal of Phillips Academy. His place as teacher of English will probably be taken by Walter Y. Durand of the P. A. faculty.

Work was begun on laying the under drain on the westerly side of Main street last Saturday. Superintendent Lovejoy is assisted in the work by George Guthrie and Louis White of the Board of Public Works department. The former has charge of laying the pipes while the latter is giving the grades. The stone work on the culvert over Roger's brook was put in by John Mc Carthy while the catch basins are being attended to by Twombly of North Andover, who put in the basins on the other side of the street.

One of the Reading cars was derailed at Andover street, Lawrence, about 5.30 o'clock Saturday night, causing an hour's delay to traffic. The cars were off time all the evening in consequence and on several occasions passengers on cars from Reading were left at Andover square. On one occasion there was a Reading car, Lawrence bound, at the Rubber factory turnout, when this was done, and if it had not been for Chief Frye and others, who told the people where they could find the car, they would have been obliged to wait half an hour. This was late in the evening when the delay would have resulted in failure to make connections for Haverhill or Lowell.

BASEBALL

Andover 13; Ballardvale 4

The Ballardvales were defeated by the Andovers on the P. A. campus Fourth of July afternoon by a score of 13 to 4. Drisko pitched a fine game, striking out eight men but was poorly supported. The game was close and exciting for four innings, when Mander was batted out of the box and Pomeroy, who succeeded him, held Ballardvale down to two hits and prevented further scoring.

Letter Carrier Emil Spalke and wife of Prospect hill are enjoying the sea breezes at Old Orchard beach.

William Daley and Joseph Murphy of Andover are at Lake Maaranacook, Me., for the ensuing three weeks.

Miss Lizzie Croskey of Elm street has returned home after a pleasant visit of several days' duration at the home of her aunt in Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bird and little son, William Frances Bird, have returned to their home in Brighton after a visit to Mrs. Bird's sister, Miss Minnie E. Turner of Garden street.

H. L. Swan of Knox street has returned from a visit at Juniper Point. Mrs. Swan is still at the Point at the Atlantic house, where she will remain a month. Mr. and Mrs. Swan were aboard the Cumberland at the time of the collision a few days ago.

A ping pong party was held Wednesday night at the home of Jeremiah Dineen, 15 May street. Refreshments were served. Frank E. McDonough and Mrs. Fred Klobedanz won the first prizes, and Fred Klobedanz and Jeremiah Dineen the booby prizes. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. McDonough, Mr. and Mrs. Klobedanz, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Gearin, Miss Kittie Dwyer Miss Mary Cainan of Newtonville; William Hughes of Portsmouth and several friends from New York city.

PICNIC AT CANOBIE.

At Canoble lake Wednesday about 200 scholars and friends of scholars of the First Baptist church Sunday school enjoyed an outing. A special train conveying the party left this city at 8.45 o'clock. The day was spent enjoying the many attractions of the resort.

The return of the party was made by train about 7.30 p. m.

Among the long list of sports were the following, which proved greatly interesting, there being much excitement and rivalry among the various contestants: Base ball game, 100 yards dash for boys under 14, a race for young men, sack race, potato race, egg race, school teachers race, 75 yards dash for girls' race for young ladies between 18 and 25, rowing race and a swimming match.

The affair was a complete success and much credit reflects upon the committee in charge.

The committees were the following: Charles C. Gillis chairman; A. C. Tuttle, T. J. Warburton, and Robert Smith; committee on refreshments, George C. Murray and Henry Ryder; committee on boats, Newell E. Wood. Deacon Fairbairn and Deacon Safford, N. O. Magoon, the Sunday school superintendent, had charge of the transportation.

PROMINENT MILL MAN DEAD.

Charles D. McDuffie, formerly of Lawrence, but for 22 years agent of the Manchester mills corporation of Manchester, N. H., and during this time one of the most prominent figures in manufacturing circles in New England, died at the Sacred Heart hospital a few minutes before midnight Saturday night, after a short illness. His death was caused by a hemorrhage of the lungs.

He was a native of Rochester, N. H., and entered a cotton mill in Lowell when 20 years of age. He went to California in 1852 in search of gold but remained only a year, resuming work in New England mills.

From 1875 to 1880 he was agent of the Everettt mills in this city.

In 1850 he married Miss Lena B. Durgin of Lowell, the fruit of their union being two sons, Frederick Z., treasurer of the York manufacturing company of York, Me., and of the Everett mills at Lawrence, and located in Boston, and Charles Harry of Manchester, a graduate of Harvard, and at present learning manufacturing in this city. Mrs. McDuffie survives her husband.

TAX RATE THE SAME.

The assessors announced the tax rate and valuation for 1902 Monday and as expected there is no change in the rate, which remains $15.60 per thousand, as for several years past.

Following are the valuation figures, the increase over last year being $1,054,540.

	Real Est.	Per. Est.	Totals

SECURES AN INJUNCTION.

The injunction sought by the J. H. Horne & Sons company has been granted.

The adjourned hearing on the petition for an injunction to restrain "certain persons" from interfering in any way with the employes of the company was held in the equity session of the supreme judicial court in Boston Wednesday before Judge Fessenden.

After hearing counsel for the petitioners in regard to the case in hand the injunction was granted.

This is the case where it is alleged that former employes of the Horne company, who have been out on strike, have attempted to prevent other workmen from entering the employ of the concern and also in a number of other instances, it is alleged, efforts have been made to induce men already employed by the firm to join the strikers.

It will be remembered that several months ago the iron moulders made a demand from the employing founders in the city for an advance in wages which would amount to 50 cents a week. The demand was refused by the Horne company. The men, with one exception, it is claimed, went out on strike and their places were filled by others.

Since the new men went to work it is claimed that there has been more or less interference with them in going to and from the shop, and it was to prevent this that the injunction was sought.

It is said by the moulders that the injunction simply restrains the persons named from doing what they would be prevented from doing by the common law and so will operate no differently.

PRINCIPAL O'BRIEN RESIGNS.

It will greatly surprise the many Lawrence friends of Michael T. O'Brien the principal of the John K. Tarbox school of this city, to learn that he has resigned his position as principal and is to associate himself in the law practice. The fact is known to but a few of his intimate friends and is not known to the whole of the school committee. It was corroborated however this morning by a member of the Grammar school committee. Mr. O'Brien has been at the Tarbox school for about five years and has met with gratifying success during his term of service there.

SALEM CHURCH TO PROSECUTE.

The cases of the men and boys who bombarded the Methodist church at Salem Depot, N. H., on the night before the Fourth, in order to get into the edifice for the purpose of ringing the church bell, have been continued until next Monday, July 14th. At that time it is expected that a large number will be arraigned at Derry, N. H.

The trustees of the church have voted to prosecute the offenders regardless of expense. It is understood that many warrants have been issued for arrest and that among those who will be prosecuted is a selectman of the town of Salem, N. H.

The Fate of the Gun

A Fourth of July Incident....

Copyright, 1902, by Joseph A. Altsheler

By..... JOSEPH A. ALTSHELER

THE sun sent down sheaves of fiery rays, and the soldiers behind either line of earthworks sought to shelter themselves alike from the burning heat and the bullets of the enemy. They did not know which they dreaded the more.

"My, how hot it is!" said Helm, taking off his cap and wiping his forehead.

"Yes, but if you were to stick your head up above the earthwork there you'd find it a good deal hotter," said Willard.

"The Yankee sharpshooters, you mean," replied Helm. "There's a fellow over there a little bit to our right who never misses. He clipped off my finest lock of hair, the one my sweetheart at home used to say became me so well, and made a red streak right across the top of my head. Say, how that fellow can shoot!"

Helm puckered up his lips and emitted a low whistle of admiration. Then his eyes wandered to the dismantled gun lying midway between the lines, its wheels shot off, its caisson smashed to pieces, but its mighty bronze barrel intact and ready again for death and destruction if mounted once more.

"It's a pity we can't get that gun," said Helm. "Put new wheels on it, give it a caisson, and it would be a wonder."

"There's no doubt of it," said Willard, "but how to get it, that's the rub, and it's bothering us Johnnies just as much as it is the Yankees over there."

These two divisions of the hostile armies had been face to face for days, neither able to advance and both refusing to retreat. Three days before one side had run forward a great gun in a bold attempt to break through the line of the enemy, but the gun's squad was annihilated almost instantly by the rifle fire, and the gun itself was dismounted by the shells of a sheltered battery. The victors did not dare go forth to secure the splendid gun, knowing that they in their turn would be swept out of existence by hostile fire. So there it lay midway between them, neither side able to secure it and both coveting it with all the ardor of veterans.

Helm doffed his cap and wiped his hot face once more. "How the sun burns!" he repeated.

"So it does," said Willard, "but I believe they've gone to sleep over there in the Yankee lines."

"Gone to sleep! Gone to sleep!" exclaimed Helm scornfully. "You just stick your head above the earthwork and the sharpshooter down there a little to the right will show you whether or not they've gone to sleep."

"I've a good notion to do it," said Willard.

"See here now, Willard," exclaimed Helm. "Don't you be a fool! I know it's silly of me, but I value your worthless life. I don't want to lose a friend. How would you know, anyway, whether they are asleep or not if you got killed? If you are bent on it, why don't you put your cap on your ramrod and stick it just above the parapet? Then you'll see if our friend the sharpshooter isn't awake."

Willard lifted the cap on the ramrod a few inches above the earthwork, where it would look from the hostile line like a human head thrust up carelessly. Not a sound came from the northern earthwork. No rifle cracked; there was no flicker of smoke.

"They're asleep," repeated Willard, "and I'll prove it. Here goes my real head!"

He thrust his face above the earthwork and stood there staring at the northern lines. He was in plain view—brow, eyes, every feature. Usually at such a sight the whole northern earthwork would have flamed into fire with the zeal of the sharpshooters. Now the dead silence of the morning was unbroken. Not a rifle muzzle was thrust into view.

Helm was amazed. "What does it mean, Billy?" he said to Willard.

The low, mellow note of a trumpet came from the northern lines. It was a signal, a musical note breathing of peace, and its soft echoes floated far away, repeating themselves among the sunny hills.

"They want to talk to us!" exclaimed Helm. "I wonder what's up."

The soft note of the trumpet came again, and then an officer in the uniform of a colonel appeared on the northern earthwork, waving a small white flag. A southern colonel rose up near Helm and Willard to respond and lifted a signal to advance.

The northerner leaped down boldly and came across the open space between the two lines that had been aptly named "The Plain of Death." As he advanced he passed the fallen gun, halted there a moment, stroked the polished barrel and then walked on.

After the first signal both earthworks were lined with hundreds of heads. They popped up suddenly, and every pair of eyes gazed curiously at the northern colonel who walked so lightly across "The Plain of Death," and on all their heads the sun blazed down.

"A fine fellow," said Helm to Willard, nodding toward the northern colonel who had crossed "The Plain of Death," the southern colonel advancing to meet him. They saluted politely, and the southern colonel stood waiting and inquiringly. The northerner looked up at the long row of sunburned faces regarding him with so much curiosity and smiled. The men grinned back.

"Do you boys know what day this is?" he asked.

"I know it's a mighty hot day, and that's all I do know," replied the southern colonel. "The last date I remember was the 14th of May, and I've lost all track of time since then; can't catch up to save me."

"We're better off than you are," said the northerner. "We've got an almanac in our camp, and one of our men got to looking at it last night. He made an important discovery. Say, can't you guess what day this is?"

"Not if my life was at stake."

"Well, it's the Fourth of July."

A low whistle ran along the line of the southern earthwork.

"Yes, it's the Fourth of July," repeated the northerner, "and, whether you succeed in going out of the Union or whether we succeed in keeping you in, the Fourth of July was for both of us, and it will still be for both of us. It's where we both got our start, and we can never change that, can we?"

"I reckon you're right," said the southerner.

"I reckon I am," said the northerner, "and, it being the Fourth of July and such a hot day, too, I thought we might as well skip the fighting until tomorrow and just make a sort of Fourth of July picnic of it."

"I reckon you're right," said the southerner again.

"I reckon I am," said the northerner, "and, while we're about it, why not do the thing up brown and have some sort of a celebration—fireworks, for instance?"

"I don't know how to have fireworks unless we take to shooting at each other again," said the southerner grimly.

"Oh, no," replied the northerner; "there's a much better way than that." He turned and waved his hand toward the center of "The Plain of Death." "You see the gun lying there? Well, you are not able to take it."

"Nor are you."

"Exactly. That is why I speak of the gun. A good many lives have been lost by both of us in the effort to take that gun, and if it stays there more will be lost. It's no use to anybody there, and still nobody can take it away. Now, I propose that we cram that barrel full of everything, including a good lot of powder, set a fuse and let her rip. It will be the biggest Fourth of July bomb ever set off, and it will save both of us a lot of hard fighting that can't profit either. What do you say?"

Before the southern colonel could reply a wild cheer rose from the southern earthwork. The men had heard, and they approved. The southerner smiled. "Good enough," he said. "Let the boys have their fun, and we'll share it."

The signals were hoisted, and in an instant "The Plain of Death" was covered with ragged men in blue and ragged men in gray, pushing and shoving like boys, exchanging jokes and comparing notes. Then they rolled that cannon up into the most conspicuous place and stuffed its mighty throat to the very muzzle with inflammables and explosives, Helm and Willard working with the foremost.

A WILD CHEER ROSE FROM THE SOUTHERN EARTHWORKS.

Then the northern colonel set the fuse and the southern colonel shouted, "Scatter, boys, for your lives!" and they raced toward the earthworks for shelter. The southern colonel, standing erect, took off his cap, whirled it around his head and shouted: "Now, boys, all together! Hip! Hip! Hurrah for the Fourth of July!"

The mighty cheer swelled from hundreds of throats in both earthworks, and when it died an intense stillness settled over "The Plain of Death." The slow burning fuse was near its end.

The next instant a sheet of flame shot up, the mighty mass of metal seemed to leap into the air, the earth shook with a terrific explosion, and the greatest Fourth of July bomb ever set off had been exploded!

HEARTBURN.

When the quantity of food taken is too large or the quality too rich, heartburn is likely to follow, and especially so if the digestion has been weakened by constipation. Eat slowly and not too freely of easily digested food. Masticate the food thoroughly. Let six hours elapse between meals and when you feel a fullness and weight in the region of the stomach after eating, indicating that you have eaten too much, take one of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and the heartburn may be avoided. For sale by all druggists.

General Debility

Day in and out there is that feeling of weakness that makes a burden of itself.

Food does not strengthen.

Sleep does not refresh.

It is hard to do, hard to bear, what should be easy,—vitality is on the ebb, and the whole system suffers.

For this condition take

LIBRARY CONTRACT.

Mayor Leonard on Monday signed the contract with the Boston Library Furnishing Co., to furnish the new and old library with the book stacks. The library is to be equipped throughout with the new stacks. The amount of the contract is $11,500. It will take about four weeks for the stacks to be made at the factory, and about four weeks for them to be put in place after they are made; consequently the library will be closed the first of August for a month to allow the work to be done.

Elm Street Franchise Granted.

The differences between the selectmen and the street railway company in connection with the Elm street grant have been adjusted, and the line to North Andover is assured, as is also the satisfactory repairing of Elm street. The specification regarding macadamizing seems a little blind, but Chairman Smith assures the Townsman that it is understood by both the railroad and the town officials to cover a first-class surface for the entire street from Elm square to Whittier street.

The construction work is already well advanced on the Haverhill end of this line and the work will soon be completed for the entire distance, thus opening another very important electric line from Andover. The Andover traveller will have, before the summer is over, electric connections on the north to all the principal cities and resorts in New Hampshire and on the Massachusetts coast, on the south to Boston and the beaches at Lynn and Salem. The North Andover line will also connect at Wilson's corner with the air line road to Salem, where a particularly rapid service is to be maugurated.

The development of the street railway in and around Andover in the past ten years has been a remarkable one. From the beginning between Andover and Lawrence, which was originally promoted by Andover men and abandoned because it was not believed possible to make it pay, to the present many connections, the growth has been rapid and well grounded. Such growth could not have occurred had there not been a public demand for it, and events have thus far justified in every case the extension of trackage in Andover streets. We predict for the new line no less marked success than has attended all the others.

Amen! and Amen!!

The Boston Herald has the following very excellent comment upon one of the evils of the day:

"There is a growing need for a treatise on trolley car manners. Everybody on an outing likes to see everybody else have a good time and get his money's worth. But when some get more than they pay for others may get less. Presumably the payment of the regulation fare entitles a passenger to a ride undisturbed by other passengers except to a reasonable or necessary degree. The payment of five cents doesn't give one the right to sing, yell, play a mouth-organ or to contribute in any other unnecessary manner to the distress of others. The frequent disposition of "gangs" of youths to "rough house" cars is becoming too manifest. Trolley parties of most any kind may be made delightful, but unless they charter a "special" they should remember that other patrons have rights that should be respected. It might be well for the car conductors to make a mental note of this."

A lady, who had spent nearly a week in a trolley party, which had travelled all over New England, was particularly severe in applying the above to the trolley travellers she met upon the Merrimack Valley cars. We fear her strictures were all too true. It seems as if the "gangs" were very thick in this region, who think that the proper way to let their presence be known is by loud and obscene language and by an abuse of their fellowmen and women. A few cases of call down by conductors who have the right sort of back bone would lessen the evil a great deal and make the trolley car a much more agreeable means of travel.

Editorial Cinders.

The landscape in and about Andover was never more beautiful than now. For a dozen years or more, the citizens of Andover, in common with the residents of other progressive towns, have been giving more and more attention to the adornment and care of their grounds, until now almost every front yard is a flower garden or miniature park. The one chief ornament, just now, of many of the town's attractive gardens, is the always beautitul crimson rambler rose bush. This has been the perfect year for roses and the rambler has seemed to thrive even more than its mates. Verily, it is a beautiful world and Andover is one of its corner stones.

Main street is again in the throes Diggers and pipe layers, to be followed by crushed stone dumpers and the steam roller make it look as if Supt. Lovejoy would do duty on the Main street beat for some time to come. We sincerely hope that it will not be for so long as to keep him from building the authorized further extension of the state highway in Scotland district.

ELECTRICS TO HAVERHILL

Looks As Though the Haverhill & Andover Company Would Accept Selectmen's New Terms.

From present appearances the electric road to connect Andover, North Andover and Haverhill will be built and in operation before September first of the current year. This will be good news to the citizens of the town, who, as a whole, are desirous that the road be constructed, and who were disappointed when it was doubtful whether the project would be carried through or not.

The final agreement which is added to the original franchise, (the one drawn up after the time limit of the original one had expired having been revoked) has been signed by Col. Woodward, president of the Haverhill & Andover Company, and by the selectmen. The terms are very little different from those of the original franchise, the only difference being the macadamizing of Elm street from Elm Square to Whittier street18 feet wide, the substitution of tee rails for girder rails and the permission to use stone other than that from the Salem quarry of the Massachusetts Broken Stone Company.

By macadamizing 18 feet wide is meant, according to Selectmen Smith, that the company shall macadamize between the rails and a sufficient distance on either side to make a good carriage way and in a similar manner to that used by the state highway commission, and that the work must be done in a manner satisfactory to the selectmen.

Col. Woodward and Arthur Bliss, representing the H. & A. Company, met the selectmen yesterday morning, and after discussing matters came to an understanding and signed the following agreement, the selectmen having previously reconsidered their revocation of the first franchise and granted an extension until September 1:

Agreement made this tenth day of July, 1902, between the Selectmen of the town of Andover and the Haverhill & Andover Street Railway Company.

Whereas, a franchise granted to said Street Railway Company, on Elm street from Elm square to the North Andover town line, and an order for a specific location dated September 14, 1901, have not been complied with, and a vote was passed for the revocation of said franchise;

Now therefore, in consideration of the Selectmen reconsidering said revocation and granting to said street Railway Company an extension of time to September 1, 1902, to build its road, the following additions and changes are agreed to, to be done at the expense of said Company, to wit:

Lower the grade of the sidewalks along said street as much as said street is lowered, and when said sidewalks are graded, replace them in the same condition as they are today, concreting such sidewalks as are now concreted with the same kind of material; and slope the space between the sidewalks and private lands and sod or seed such space, to the satisfaction of said Selectmen.

Bonds and return wires shall be of such size as to assure not over one volt difference in potentials between rails and any underground pipes, in the same manner of the tracks of the Lawrence & Reading Street Railway Company were bonded.

The gutters on both sides of Elm street from Elm square to the summit of the grade in an easterly direction shall be paved.

Elm street from Elm square to Whittier street, shall be macadamized 18 feet wide, in a manner as good as that of the State Highway, and to the satisfaction of the Selectmen.

It is further agreed that said Company is to lay tee rails weighing not less than sixty pounds to the yard from Elm square to the North Andover town line, instead of laying girder rails and paving in that part between Elm square and Whittier street as specified in a former grant.

It is further agreed that said Company may use broken stone other than that from the Salem Quarry of the Massachusetts Broken Stone Company.

Pave gutters from Whittier street to Florence street and put in four catch basins, both if found necessary by the board of Selectmen.

Fell into Ditch.

A Lawrence teamster met with a slight accident on Main street nearly opposite Dr. Scott's yesterday morning between 10 and 11 o'clock.

The man was driving a pair of blind horses up the street. On looking back n his heavy cart he noticed that the feed bags were about to fall out. Leaving the animals to continue on their way unguided, he started to secure the bags.

It was a bad move on his part for the horses left the course, and before he could prevent the off horse and one side of the wagon was in the ditch.

The horse was extricated without any difficulty by being driven to the end of the portion excavated, but it took a triangle with a block and tackle attached to lift out the wagon. Aside from a slight delay to the electrics no damage was done.

Popular Teacher Goes to Bradford.

Last week the Townsman announced the probable resignation of Miss Jean S. Pond from the teaching force of the Punchard school. Now the surety of her withdrawal is confirmed, as the school committee is in receipt of her resignation, which was accepted with regret. Miss Pond goes from here to Bradford Academy with a considerable increase of salary and will occupy a place well up in the teaching force.

Her absence from the ranks of the teachers at Punchard will be a distinct loss to the school where she was very successful and popular. While both scholars, associate teachers and the school committee will be sorry to have her go, they will be glad of her good fortune and additional honors.

The Nation's Holiday.

Not with a bang, boom and pop, pop of fire crackers was the 4th of July ushered in this year. No, that seems now to be a custom of the past. Instead, the small boy, yea, and the grown-up one likewise, began the noise making during the early evening of the night before and continued it throughout the evening so that when the twelve slow strokes of midnight rang out there was hardly any additional enthusiasm to let loose on the indulgent and long suffering public.

Whatever exciting and unusual events Andover had came in the vicinity of midnight. The first of these was when Timothy Pasho, employed during Thursday evening as an extra hand by Chas. Murphy, attempted to set off a giant cannon cracker, the fuse of which he had already lighted twice before. This time the cracker had no scruples as to not going off as the above named young gentleman learned to his regret. As a result of the explosion his face was lacerated and filled with dirt but fortunately his injuries were not serious which was rather remarkable considering his proximity to the cracker when it exploded.

Between twelve and one o'clock the only alarm of the entire 4th was sounded from Box 47, Bartlet street, opposite the schools. The fire was located in an old barn on Whittier street, corner of Punchard avenue and owned by Dr. C. H. Shattuck of Ballardvale. The barn contained nothing but hay and altho' the blaze had made fair headway, a stream from the engine company's hose quickly extinguished it. The loss was slight.

This was the only fire of any account although small bonfires were lighted in different parts of the town. One was started on Central street near Brook on the sidewalk while some ingenious fellow, by pouring oil on the water, had a weird fire in the town fountain in the Square. It looked as though the water was burning up.

The second edition or younger element of the town whose parents believed in their children remaining indoors the first part of the night, began to make lots of noise about one o'clock and kept it up for several hours.

No 4th could have been celebrated with more ideal weather. The bright sun and cool air made a combination unusual on this day. Nothing occurred to mar its perfection, not even a thunder shower. The citizens observed the day in many ways, some by staying quietly at home, others by going to visit relatives, friends, or to spend a day at the seashore and other nearby resorts, while many went to Lawrence to witness the sports and in the evening the fireworks.

Andover had her share of pyrotechnics this year and a more than usual quantity it seemed. William M. Wood had a magnificent display set off near the pond which was illuminated by colored lights. Mr. Wood had as his guests many prominent people of the town. From all around the rockets whizzed, the bombs burst, pin wheels whirled, Roman candles sputtered, showers fizzed and fire balloons floated up and away out of sight. The racket was kept up intermittently until midnight when the glorious old 4th was ended.

WHITE MOUNTAINS, HOOSAC AND GREEN MOUNTAINS.

The many mountain resorts of New England have in no small degree contributed to her reputation as the premier vacation ground of this country.

In Massachusetts alone the beautiful Berkshire Hills and the Hoosac Mountains are always pointed at with praise and admiration by the visiting tourist and traveler.

In New Hampshire are the celebrated White Mountains whose beauty and celebrity are world wide and whose narrow defiles and towering peaks have been praised in writing by distinguished authors; and so on into the state whose name is taken from the delightful chain of mountains which extend throughout her entire length to the Canadian border, the famous "Green Mountains."

For the traveler seeking a mountain resort, New England is the section and the Boston & Maine Railroad is the line which runs to and connects for all vacation points in Northern New England.

"Among the Mountains" is a pamphlet descriptive of the mountains of New England and it will be mailed to any address upon receipt of two cents in stamps. The illustrated portfolio, "Mountains of New England" will be mailed to any address upon receipt of six cents in stamps by the General Passenger Department, Boston & Maine Railroad, Boston.

WEST PARISH.

Considerable excitement was caused in the West Parish last evening by a short circuit of the electric wire from Lowell, which is supplying part of the town with power. It happened in front of the residence of J. A. Morrill, where a limb had rubbed off the insulation. The display of fireworks attracted a considerable crowd, many of whom at first thought the Morrill's house on fire. The short circuit brought darkness to a part of the town until the trouble was remedied. Superintendent Coleman of the Andover Electric Light Company, and two teams from Lowell started out when notified of the difficulty and between them the wire was repaired after about two hours.

Mrs. George E. Foster of Pembina, North Dakota, is spending the week with Mr and Mrs. Frank H. Hardy.

Mrs. Gerry Hardy has been visiting relatives in one of the suburbs of Boston.

TRIBUTE TO MRS. DOWNS

By the Principal of Abbot Academy in the Last Courant.

We publish by request the following worthy tribute to the late Mrs. Annie Sawyer Downs from the Abbot Academy Courant of June, 1902:

Again we must begin our number with a new sorrow. The face of Mrs. Annie Sawyer Downs which greets our readers as these pages open will recall to many and many the vivid personality, the wide knowledge, the ready wit, the affectionate interest of this woman, so dear to us here in Abbot Academy. During the many years of her life in Andover it was her joy to serve to her fullest ability any need. The town, the churches, the public schools, this school, individuals, the beauty and morality of the common life of the village, each and all took from her inspiration, courage, enlarged views. Were learning, music, art, morals, embellishment or cleanliness in question, each must be of the best and noblest, and must be so, not temporarily, but for the long future. In her were truly united the practical activity and the contemplative study which make the good citizen. Pen and word and effort she used unstintedly when a warning voice was needed against any danger which menaced the town; pen and word and effort equally, when praise and appreciation of the town's noble attitude in the past or present was called for. Her varied attainments are known to us all. In poetry her feeling was frequently expressed drawn out by the history whether of the simplest local movement or of some wider and greater struggle. Her longest poem, the one read by Professor Churchill at the 250th anniversary of the settlement of the town of Andover, is too long to be quoted.

Her prose was flexible and graphic. Those who have heard her lectures on English cathedrals or on more general artistic matters, remember to this day how by describing the historic associations she enriched the mere constructive or artistic design. Westminster, Canterbury, York, Winchester, may not be visited by many of us without the memory of Mrs. Downs' beautiful appreciation of the events which hallow their precincts. Her work for such lectures, as her work for other studies, was thorough. No one consulted the libraries and museums of Boston more assiduously or based her investigations on a greater quickness of apprehension of the point of view to be taken for the special work.

Her calm and confident religious faith bore her up during her painful illness, the end of which she probably clearly foresaw while concealing that knowledge for the sake of those who still hoped for her life. Her bright spirit, sure of an everlasting rest, but a rest with newly kindled love and earnestness, supported and still supports those nearest to her with a wonderful and persistent power. During that illness it was as if the sick room had been with us, for we hoped and sympathized and sorrowed day by day with Mr. Downs.

The months have gone on since that date, the 9th of December, 1901. We, too, have gone on, realizing that it will be impossible for us to find another with such qualities of a friend as Mrs. Downs had, but thankful that she lived among us and labored for us for so long. For wherever help was needed to fill the place of an absent teacher, when the school wanted to hear of historic Andover, or Concord, or Salem, or when questions of administrations or of forgotten fact arose, she was always glad to give her best service to Abbot Academy. And as the beauty of these spring leaves and flowers gives us joy, so with the joy comes the thought of Mrs. Downs, whose death has taken from among spring's lovers one whose spring is now among the heavenly meadows of eternity.

Our debt to her as a school cannot be expressed. The results of her influence will tell for generations of future pupils in the elevated ideals and the eager thirst for accurate knowledge which brought to us through many years better foundations for school work. Her body was laid to rest in her well loved Concord, in Sleepy Hollow. All her friends will be glad to remember what was her last message to one of her best beloved, a passage from Browning:

"I see my way, as birds their trackless way.
I shall arrive—what time, what circuit first
I ask not; but
In some time, His good time. I shall arrive
He guides me and the bird! In His good time.

BASEBALL

Stoneham 8; Andover 7.

In the contest on the Phillips Academy campus last Saturday afternoon between Stoneham and Andover, the former won by a single tally. It was one of the most interesting games of the season. The visitors' hits came at opportune times. Eddie Lanigan, who formerly played second base and field on the Academy nine, played second base for the Stoneham nine. Nathan Gage of Dartmouth, played third base for Andover in place of Cullinane.

Lanigan had the misfortune of breaking his collarbone in trying to steal a base.

Andover, 21; Malden, 0.

Andover gave Malden an awful drubbing in a game on the P. A. campus, last Friday afternoon, defeating them 21 to 0 The visitors could do nothing with Pomeroy's phenominal pitching, while Andover got 19 hits off Black.

Pomeroy allowed only one hit and had 14 strike-outs to his credit. He also made 4 of Andover's 19 hits, one a two-base and one a three-base hit. The home team played an errorless game.

SEASHORE RESORTS AND ENJOYMENT TO BE FOUND ALONG THE ATLANTIC COAST.

The many resorts along the Atlantic coast from Mt. Desert to Boston are now welcoming to their shores myriads of vacationists who delight yearly in tasting the joys of a New England summer.

Every sport and pastime known to the summer tourist can be found at these resorts: Golf, dancing, boating, bathing, etc. The hotels are magnificent, and are equal to any in the country, and the patronage at all these resorts from Marblehead to Bar Harbor proclaims the popularity of this section as a vacation ground.

In order to get a clear and adequate idea of this region, send two cents in stamps to the Passenger Department, Boston & Maine Railroad, Boston, for their descriptive book "All Along Shore" and six cents in stamps for the portfolio of views "Seashore of New England.

Everett, the little son of Mrs. Margerite Wannack, met with an accident Saturday which cost him the use of one finger. He, with another small boy, found a small box containing dynamite. They tried to open it but not succeeding, placed it on a rock and struck it with another stone. That the only injury was to the little Wannack boy's hand is remarkable.

ON BOARD "IVERNIA"

Andover Press Hears from the Popular Foreman Who Has Crossed the "Briny" for a Visit in Scotland.

A letter was just received from Queenstown from George A. Christie, the efficient foreman of the Andover Press, who, with his wife, son and sister-in-law, sailed from Boston, June 24, on the "Ivernia" of the Cunard line for Scotland, where he will visit his father during July and August.

His description of the trip and items of interest in connection with those on board is printed herewith:

Tuesday, July 1,
2500 Miles from Boston,
R. M. S. "Ivernia."

Another day and we make Liverpool and the pleasantest ocean trip it has been my fortune to make will have ended. Since we slipped our hawsers and silently stole out into mid-stream the weather has been all one, afflicted with sea-sickness, could desire. A few white caps one day, but the rest of the trip the sea has been calm and to-day with a slight haze hanging the sea is like a mirror. None of our party have been sick, indeed very few on board have been troubled at all. This is not to be wondered at when the fine qualities of this grand ship are considered. A steadier ship never sailed, thanks to the enterprise of the Cunard Co. and the genius of Marconi and his bilge keel. This consists of two strips of the finest steel 27 inches deep running parallel along each side of the ship's bottom. This acts after the principle of the centreboard and prevents the ship from rolling. Accommodation, service and food are all that can be desired and the Cunard Co., in spite of J. P. Morgan and his "Meigers", is still the leading line crossing the Atlantic. There are five Congregational ministers aboard so that the spiritual wants are well looked after. The "spirituous" wants are also cared for to the full although no one has got to that full estate as yet.

Sunday Dr. Thomas of Brookline preached the sermon—an eloquent, practical discourse. In the evening a song service was held, Rev. F. W. Miller of Chicago preaching. During the evening service the Oceanic, the second largest steamer afloat passed us and signalled, "The King is progressing favorably," which pleased every Englishman aboard. Two days previous the Celtic, the largest steamer afloat and the St. Paul both New York bound, passed us within a few hours of each other. My kodak from H. F. Chase, Andover's athletic outfitter caught all three.

Monday was a gala day of sports under the distinguished patronage of Capt. Pritchard. Hurdle races, quoiting matches, shuffleboard, tug of war, potato races, apple scramble race for boys and girls, needle threading competition for ladies, while seated on the deck, on a bottle.

Mr. Jackson, who is accompanied by Mrs. Joseph Jackson of Lawrence, has been the prime mover in all the events. Mr. Jackson is returning from a two months' visit with his brother in Lawrence, and the second cabin passengers owe much of the good times to him. He has been indefatigable in his efforts to please and has been successful in everything he has attempted. In the concerts which he has gotten up and which have brought out much fine talent he has taken part, giving several vocal selections.

Two other Lawrence passengers, Mrs. and Miss McInness, are in the party. In the shuffleboard competition Miss McInness was partnered with the writer. We won the first and second events easily but lost in the third, failing to qualify for the semi-finals. Master James P. Christie won the apple scramble race for boys and Margaret Rogers the girl's race. Mrs. Christie pulled on the winning side in the married vs single tug of war, Miss Mc Inness and Miss Scott being on the losing side. The needle threading competition was won by Miss Scott in 3 seconds, Mrs. Covell, wife of the Rev. Mr. Covell of Lynn, being a good second in 4 seconds. The firemen finished the day with their sports which convulsed everybody and their efforts were rewarded with a copious shower of silver coins with which they will make merry when they reach port. (The dinner gong has sounded and as we live to eat this epistle must be suspended for an hour.)

One of the most interesting passengers was a "Tommy Atkins" who had been through the Boer War, had been left a fortune and bought himself out. He had many stories to tell of the war which were somewhat different from those we had read in the press. He was a great admirer of Strathcona's Horse from Canada, a troop of soldiers which made the Boers tremble. He said that four or five regiments of such fighters would have ended the war in short order. Whenever a company of Boers were sighted, off the Horse would go with a whoop which sent a thrill of fear through the Boers. A lariat, a revolver, short knife and gun completed their outfit. No rations, they found these for themselves. Each man was a dead shot with gun or revolver, and the Boers found it out. Our informant had been visiting friends in Lawrence and is now returning home.

A visit to the printing office on the steerage deck was of interest. The office boasted 24 fonts of type and was capable of turning out very fair work—6 menus each day beside programs and other jobs done in the printers' spare time. A card tacked up on the wall attracted the writer's attention. It read thus:

"This is to certify
That the bearer has permission
To walk this earth,
Signed,
J. Pierpont Morgan."

In these days of Morganism such permission may yet be necessary. The printer was evidently up-to-date, as most printers are. Land is now but 200 miles distant and all the Queenstown passengers are getting in readiness for transportation to the tug which will in a very few hours be in wait for them. Soon the landing stage at Liverpool and Riverside Station will be in sight and terra firma will be a pleasant change. We shall have plenty of company to Scotland, many of the passengers being bound for the land of heather clad mountains.

Patriotic Social.

One of the pleasantest events of the summer season was the "patriotic social" at the South church last week Thursday evening, a most appropriate occasion for it, the night before the Fourth.

Quite a sizable gathering was present in spite of the inclemency of the weather in the afternoon, which did away with the idea of having a lawn party on the beautiful lawn of the church during the evening with songs and a display of fire works. Doubtless many were prevented from attending by other events and by preparations for the Fourth.

The vestry was prettily decorated with flags while colored electric lights added to the patriotic effect. From 6 o'clock until 10 the vestry was well filled, not many venturing out on the lawn owing to the dampness of the grass.

At one of the tables, flags and fans were disposed of by a bevy of young ladies, the Misses Bell and Miss Harriet Carter. This table as well as the others, the candy and lemonade tables, were trimmed with red, white and blue crepe paper. At the candy table, Mrs. David Shaw, Misses Marcia Richards and Maud M. Cole were in charge. Besides lemonade, orangeade and currant shrub were dispensed, while at another part of the vestry, ice cream and cake were for sale. Miss Foster and Miss Trickey sold the liquid refreshments.

During the evening, the lawn was lighted by clusters of electric lights which had been strung by Superintendent Walter H. Coleman of the Andover Electric Light company. A splendid program, part of which was to have been given on the lawn, was rendered in the vestry.

There was a most interesting and well executed flag drill by 11 little girls dressed in white with red sashes and blue caps. They were coached for their drill by Miss Mary H. Foster, and the audience thoroughly appreciated their work as shown by the hearty applause.

E. Kendall Jenkins and Rev. Clark Carter gave stirring and eloquent three minute patriotic addresses, which were well received. Dr. Gilbert played a drum solo that pleased everybody immensely.

The pot-pourri of patriotic songs was one of the most enjoyable events of the evening. The air of "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground" and "Battle Hymn of the Republic," were sung by Francis H. Foster, while the air of "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean" and "Star Spangled Banner" were sung by Mrs. Thompson, the audience joining in the chorus of each.

The social was under the auspices of the Woman's Union of the church.

Obituaries.

HANNAH CURTIS LISCOMBE.

Hannah Curtis Liscombe, formerly known to Andover friends as the widow of Joseph W. Bruce, and widow of the late Nathaniel Sawyer, died in South Hollis, Me., Tuesday, the 24th of June, at the residence of her only son, George T. W. Bruce, aged over 85. She was buried in Hollis, the officiating clergyman being Rev. H. F. Moulton, pastor of the First Universalist church of Biddeford. She was an early advocate of the faith, joining in the Andover organization of which our venerable B. F. Wardwell and his pastor, Rev. V. Lincoln, are now perhaps the only surviving members. The sister surviving, youngest of a large family, is Mrs. William Henry Foster of Salem street. A large group of middle-aged nephews and nieces will recall kindly the hospitality and comradeship of the days when she kept her house open for all the Andover kin.

ESTELLE McCOY.

The death of Miss Estelle McCoy, a well known nurse who had many warm friends in Andover, occurred very suddenly after the briefest illness, last week Thursday, at Exeter, N. H.

Deceased was a native of Andover where she was born in 1870. She was a graduate of the Lawrence General hospital. Besides her mother, Mrs. William Doughty, she is survived by a sister, Mrs. Charles Connor, and a brother, Frederick W. Doughty.

The services at the funeral were conducted by Rev. W. S. Twort of the Free Baptist church, Lawrence, at her mother's home, 14 Allston street, Saturday. Many floral tributes were sent by loving relatives and friends. Burial was in the Old South cemetery, Andover.

The tailor shops in town will probably be closed Thursday afternoons throughout the remainder of the summer.

The majority of the local barber shops have agreed to a few changes in their opening and closing arrangements and in the price for a hair cut. Under the new scheme their shops will not be opened after 1 o'clock Thursdays, 9 o'clock on every night except Saturdays, and on that evening the shop will be closed at 11. The price for a hair cut will be 25 cents instead of 20. Holidays coming on Fridays would mean that the shop would be kept open Thursday afternoon and evening until 11 o'clock. The new arrangement goes into effect next Thursday.

BEAUTIFUL SCENERY IN HOOSAC COUNTRY AND DEERFIELD VALLEY.

Unrivalled in beauty and unmatched for scenic grandeur is that portion of the bay state known as the Hoosac Country and Deerfield Valley. Throughout its entire length, over the course where years have brought no change, but added beauty and historical interest, the Boston & Maine Railroad traverses, and in every town, every valley, and from the surrounding hill tops the beauties of this region can be seen.

A good idea of the pleasures of this portion of Massachusetts can be gleaned from the pamphlet "Hoosac Country and Deerfield Valley" published by the General Passenger Department, Boston & Maine Railroad, Boston, and will be mailed to any address upon receipt of two cents in stamps.

Summer Services.

The summer regulations in the various churches throughout the city have been completed and many of the churches, as in the past, will close their doors for at least a portion of the hot weather. In the Roman Catholic and the Episcopal churches, the services will, of course, be held all yeaar round, but in some cases no attempt will be made at preaching lengthy sermons, and other hot weather regulations will shorten the services.

The pastors of most of the churches will enjoy vacations, while others will remain right here in Lawrence for the summer, carrying on their work.

The plans for services at the Universalist church, during the summer months, are: Public worship at 10.30 a. m., through the month of July, and there are no definite arrangements for the month of August, but there is a strong probability that the church will be closed during that month. Some necessary repairs will be cared for during the summer. The summer Communion was administered at 4.30 p. m., July 6th.

Regarding the vacation of the pastor, the Rev. William E. Gibbs has not made any plans as yet, nor can he make them at present.

At the German Presbyterian church the morning service will be as hitherto at 10 o'clock and there will be preaching by the pastor. The evening service during the months of July and August will be discontinued. Sunday school will be at 11.30; Superintendent F. M. Vietor; Young people's prayer meeting will be at 7 p. m.

The Rev. George C. Muller, pastor of the church, is to get along without vacation this summer, expecting that some out of town pastors will spend their vacation at the German Presbyterian parsonage and "preach in return." Last Sunday, July 6th, the parishioners had with them the Rev. Ernest B. Saure, missionary in China from 1895—1902. Mr. Saure is the brother of Rev. F. C. Saure of East Derry, N. H., the former pastor of the local church. Mr. Saure belongs to the Hudson Taylor "China Inland Mission," and having been in China during the Boxer troubles, had many interesting things to tell. He spoke in both services, 10 a. m., and 7.30 p. m., in the German language.

The plans for service at Grace church during the summer months, are as usual, the services being uniform throughout the year. They are: Holy communion at 8 a. m.; morning prayers and sermon at 10.30 a. m.; second Holy Communion (1st Sunday in month) 11.30 a. m; Evening prayer and sermon, 7 p. m.; Holy Communion on all holy days, 9.30 a. m. The services on Wednesday and Friday are discontinued through the summer.

The Rev. Arthur W. Moulton pastor of the church, has not yet made his plans for vacation.

There will be the usual union between Trinity and Lawrence Street churches during the summer, beginning Sunday, July 13, at Trinity church and continuing at Trinity for four Sundays. Beginning Sunday, August 10, the union services will be held in the Lawrence Street church until September.

The Rev. F. H. Page will remain in Lawrence during July in charge of Trinity and Lawrence Street parishes. He plans to take his vacation i a short trip abroad with Mrs. Page, spending the time chiefly in England and returning early in September.

At the Haverhill Street Methodist church, Sunday services will be held as usual: Sermon at 10.30 a. m., prayer and praise service at 7.30 p. m. The pastor will preach.

Most of the summer will be spent in Lawrence by the pastor, the Rev. F. C. Rogers.

During July, all regular services will be continued at the First Baptist church. In August there will be preaching every Sunday morning and evening by the Rev. Robert Macdonald of New York. The Rev. George F. Green, pastor will be absent from the city during the month of August.

There will be service every Sunday during the summer at the Wood Memorial and also at the First Free Baptist church. The pastor will be absent the last three Sundays in August, but the pulpit will be supplied. While he is away, the Rev. W. J. Twort pastor of both churches, will visit in Maine.

The plans for services at the United Congregational church, during the summer months, are the regular services except that the last half of July and the first half of August, the pulpit will be supplied by another during the pastor's absence. The Rev. H. G. Mank will spend his vacation in Maine.

The Lawrence Street church, during the summer months, will hold union services with Trinity church at Trinity church July 13, 20, 27 and Aug. 3; at the Lawrence Street August 10, 17, 24, and 31.

Regarding vacation, the pastor's plans for the summer, the Rev. William E. Wolcott replies that he is uncertain, excepting that he intends to visit Chautauqua.

At the Garden Street M. E. church, during the summer months, services will be held every Sabbath morning and evening. The pastor of the church, the Rev. James Cairns, will take two Sabbaths, spending the time with his family in South Royalston, Mass. The pulpit will be supplied during the pastor's absence.

During the summer, at St. John's Episcopal church, services will be held at 10.30 a. m and 7 p. m; Sunday school at noon. During August, the evening service and Sunday school will be omitted. The services in August will be conducted by Lay Readers. The rector, the Rev. Henry Wood, will be away during the month, but as yet his plans for vacation are not complete.

During July, the services at the United Presbyterian church, will be kept up as usual; while during the month of August, the morning services only, followed by the Sabbath school will be held. It is probable that the church will be closed August 24th and 31st.

The plans of the pastor, the Rev. H. G. McVey, for the summer months, are to stay by the work. He has a longing desire to be present and enjoy the "Northfield" lectures and schools, but fears that he will probably be deprived of this pleasure.

At St. Paul's M. E. church, services will be conducted as usual during the entire summer. The Rev. William S. Searle, pastor, does not expect to have an extended vacation. He expects to be absent but one or two Sundays.

The plans at the German M. E. church are Preaching at 10 a. m. and 7.30 p. m. Sunday school at 11.30 a. m. Prayer meeting, Thursday night. The Rev. C. Jordan has made no plans for his summer rest.

The Unitarian church will be closed all summer and will reopen on Sunday, September 7th.

The pastor, the Rev. Thomas S. Robjent, will spend his vacation at York beach, Maine. Last Sunday he spoke at the Isle of Shoals conference. He is preaching there later in the month and also at York Harbor in August.

The services will be held as usual at the Parker Street church, and while the Rev. William H. Marble, pastor, is out of town on his vacation, the pulpit will be filled by another.

Services will be held through the month of July at the South Congregational church, but the church will be closed during August. Sub-pastors will fill the pulpit. The primary department will be open all through the month of Au gust.

The summer regulations at the Roman Catholic churches are:

St. Mary's church: Sunday masses same as all year round—6, 7.30, 8.30 (for children only) 9.30, 10.30. Rosary and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament in the evening at 7 o'clock. Baptism, 4 o'clock. The parish office is open daily from 8 a. m. to 12 noon, and 7 to 8 p. m.

Immaculate Conception church: Sunday masses—6, 8 and 9.30 o'clock. Baptism, 4 o'clock. Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament after the 9.30 mass.

St. Monica's church, Methuen: Mass—9.30, except on the second Sunday of the month, when it is 8.30.

BOY DROWNED TUESDAY.

There came very near being a double tragedy during the noon hour Tuesday, when Mike Najam, a Syrian lad about 17 years of age lost his life in the Merrimack river. His sister, Mrs. Annie Miran, about 21 years of age, crazed with grief threatened to throw herself over the railing of the Duck bridge, and only by great effort of bystanders was she held back.

Najam, who lives with his sister at 299 1-2 Oak street, is employed in the Washington mills and it was while swimming in the river back of the mills during the noon hour that he lost his life. It is against the rules of the mills to go in swimming at this point, but young Najam with a few companions, tired and heated after their morning's work, wanted to cool off in the water. It is not known whether he was drowned as the result of exhaustion or cramp, or whether it was the result of his not being able to swim. Whichever it was, he slipped away from his companions and in a few seconds was out of their reach. He struggled in the water for some time and fought hard for life, but the waters closed above him and in a short while he was gone.

Not many minutes later the body was seen floating beneath the Duck bridge. The police were notified and officers were immediately detailed to the river. A boat was procured and a search for the body was at once begun.

Many relatives of the young man who lost his life, are employed in the Washington mills, and after the accident about a dozen of them procured boats and went out upon the river below the Duck bridge to search for the body. In the party was a brother of the victim, Joseph Najam.

The scene which followed the tragedy was heart rending. The young man's sister and his aunt, Barbarra George of 325 Oak street, upon hearing the sad news, hastened to the Duck bridge where they were seized with a fit of hysterics. The sister threw her hands into the air, tore her hair, and screamed; and begged to be allowed to follow her brother. Once she gained the railing of the bridge and was about to leap over it when she was caught and pulled away by a friend who was in the gathering. Both women took on terribly and it was a difficult task to persuade them to leave the bridge. It was after 1 o'clock when they were finally started for home, and as they passed through the streets they would stop every few steps, sit upon the curbstone, and created wild scenes of grief.

Up to the present time the body of the young man has not been found.

BOSTON & MAINE HAS A GREEN HOUSE.

The Boston and Maine railroad is abolishing the flower gardens at the stations and in their place is substituting shrubbery which is of a neater and more decorative appearance. One great advantage of shrubbery over the flowers is that it holds a neat appearance throughout the year, summer and winter alike. All that it needs is to be attended to in the spring and it is immediate in its response to the warmth. While the plants that have been heretofore mostly used in the station gardens have to be planted in the spring, they remain dormant for about a month and when in bloom are very good but soon the frost of fall comes and the plants take on a poor appearance and are anything but ornamental. The adoption has a manifold attraction. First it makes pleasing display and second it encourages the cultivation of trees by residents near the stations. A scarcity of timber is predicted especially for railroad ties and in a few years the trees now being set out by the road and the residents would yield a supply of lumber to be used for ties.

About 10,000 Catalpa trees have been set out this year and a great number of chestnut shrubs.

In this city the B. and M. has established a green house and connected with it is a nursery. The house is about 45 by 18 feet but is far too small. It will be greatly enlarged next season. It is situated on the Boston and Maine field near the tracks, just south of Andover street. Adjacent to the house is a plot of land of about one acre. The perennials and shrubbery are propagated in the house under the care of Gardener Daniel Desmond of Reading who has employed with him five men. These men do their own grafting and so far have met with fine success. From the house during the few months that it has been in operation 12,000 plants have been taken out into the open earth and 35,000 others are now in the nursery.

In the garden where the plants and shrubbery are put after being taken from the nursery everything is in a flourishing condition. This space which is allotted is not sufficient for the cultivation of the growths which it is desirable to have.

Next year the grounds will be extended. The house will probably be made several hundred feet longer. The best work cannot be gotten from the present place however but when the establishment is as large as the road needs fine results may be expected in the line of shrubbery.

The erection of a greenhouse was only an experiment and it has equalled the anticipations.

OFF FOR LAKE GEORGE.

A number of young ladies of this city left Tuesday en route Lake George where they will remain until July 16 at a conference for young women of the Eastern United States and Canada section for City Young Women's Christian association's. The grand climate and the magnificent scenery of the lake which is situated in the mountains, is a great attraction and thousands of young ladies from all over the eastern section of this country and Canada are to be there. The conference is under the auspices of the American committee of the Young Women's associations of the east. Mrs. Margaret E. Sangster is the presiding officer of that committee.

There will be daily addresses, and other features of great interest to the members of the many associations and others who will take advantage of the opportunity to spend a week at the famed resort. Half of each day will be left open for recreation.

Silver Bay, where the meeting is to be held, is one of the most beautiful spots on the lake.

The party which leaves from this city is composed of well known young ladies most of whom are connected with the local division.

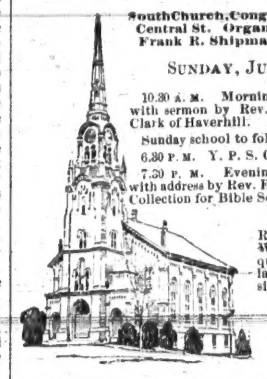

The speakers of the conference will be Robert E. Speer of New York; Rev. Charles R. Erdman of Germantown, Pa., Rev. C. W. Willard of Baltimore, Md., C. C. Michener of New York, G. K. Shurtleff of Cleveland, G. B. Hodge of New York and Mrs. F. D. Gamewell of Pekin, China. The following are the Bible teachers, Don. O. Shelton, Miss Caroline Palmer and Miss Mary McElroy.

The local people who will be present comprise:

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Safford, Misses Hattie Snow, Sadie Morgan, Margaret Young, Bertha Farr, Alice Clark, Elizabeth Stafford, Eda Bake, Nelly Cloudman Florence Cutler, Emma Moeckel and the Gen. Sec. Miss Macurdy.

Summer complaint is unusually prevalent among children this season. A well developed case in the writer's family was cured last week by the timely use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy—one of the best patent medicines manufactured and which is always kept on hand at the home of ye scribe. This is not intended as a free puff for the company, who do not advertise with us, but to benefit little sufferers who may not be within easy access of a physician. No family should be without a bottle of this medicine in the house, especially in summertime.—Lansing, Iowa, Journal. For sale by all druggists.

It now looks as though the electric line to Canoble lake through this town would not be completed as soon as was expected. This is not the company's fault, but according to Lawyer Fuller of the Lawrence and Methuen line, it is the fault of a new law passed at the last legislature, which makes it necessary for every franchise granted by a town or city to be approved by the railroad commissioners before the road can be constructed thereon. Most of this line being over private land owned by the company it was permitted to construct the line thereon as they desired. But the matter of constructing the track on the street must be deferred until permission is granted by the commissioners. Lawyer Fuller said last night that as yet, on account of the large amount of business which the commissioners are called upon to transact the company have been unable to get a hearing; and as the commissioners will soon adjourn for a month, nothing can be done in the matter until the fall. If it were not for this obstacle it is probable that the line would be in operation in August, but now this cannot possible be done.

Richardson Bros. of this town have been kept busy this year with work. They have just completed two two-tenement houses in South Lawrence. The frame work for another house, a three tenement one, in Lawrence, one two-tenement house in Methuen, and a fine cottage in Frye Village, Andover. They also have on hand the contracts for a three-tenement, a two-tenement, and three cottage houses. Other contactors report the building business good this year.

Those who were anxious as to what the condition of Town House hill would be after the double track was put in, have come to the conclusion that their apprehension in the matter was needless. The argument was advanced at the time of the hearing on the matter of granting the Boston & Northern Street Railroad Co., the franchise for the double track on Broadway, that if the double track was allowed to be put on this hill it would make the travel more difficult than before. The track was put in, however, and now the owners of teams say the hill was never in better condition for teaming as far as they can remember. The block paving, instead of being slippery to the horses, as was expected, furnish a solid footing for them, so that they can pull a load up the hill better than before. The rut near the rail is not so deep as it was with the single track system, and consequently is not so dangerous to light carriages. As a matter of fact there has been a marked decrease in accidents due to wheels being caught in the track since the double tracks were put in. With the present condition of the rails, it is stated that heavy teams pass over them without any danger of having accidents occur from the wheels being caught, while before this such accidents were quite frequent. This is one of the unexpected results of the laying of the double track. Another result, which was expected, is the doing away with the waiting in traveling between Lawrence and the village. With a double track all the way, as at present, there is no waiting at all. Once in a while it is necessary, when the ten minute cars are running to wait on the Hampshire street turnout for a minute or so, but that doesn't inconvenience very many people.

DEATH OF C. H. HAZELTINE.

Charles H. Hazeltine for many years a respected resident of this town, died at his home, 54 Lowell street, Saturday at the age of 84 years, 7 months and 24 days. He had been in poor health for some time. The deceased was a native of Salem, N. H. Years ago he engaged in the shoe business but he retired some 20 years ago and since has been enjoying the fruits of his industry. He was a man of quiet disposition and unassuming character and was highly respected by his many local friends. He leaves a widow, and one daughter, Mrs. Ella G., the wife of Edwin J. Castle. The funeral was held from his late residence, Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and burial was in Walnut Grove cemetery.

TRIP TO GLOUCESTER.

Members of the King's Daughters of the Congregational church, together with members of the brotherhood and other invited guests made a trip to Gloucester Wednesday to visit the sailors' institute in that place. The local Daughters have done much to assist in the work at the institute, and consequently when Mr. Charlton, who is in charge, extended an invitation to them to make a visit, the invitation met with a hearty response. There were 50 in the party who made the trip. They went by train as far as Salem, where a special car was taken to Gloucester. Mr. Charlton met them and escorted them to his home where a dinner was served. Yesterday was Mr. Charlton's 52nd birthday and Miss Camelia Howe made a short speech congratulating him and expressing the hope of continued success in his work.

After the dinner the party went to the institute and from there to the wharf to see the vessels, with the cargo, etc, being loaded and unloaded. They left Gloucester at 3.30 p. m., after a very pleasant outing. The committee of arrangements comprised Caleb A. Page, Henry Gaunt, Miss Anna Hill, Mrs. Carleton and Miss Reed.

Among the many who took the trip were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gaunt, C. H. T. Mann, Miss Abbie S. Mann, Mrs. Frank Ball of Lawrence, Mrs. Charles Austin, Mrs. Frank Douglas, Mrs. C. W. Douglas, Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Emerson, Miss Camelia A. Howe, Miss Hattie Chamberlain, Mrs. Charles Scott Mrs. Horace Carleton, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Newsholme and daughter Mary, Mrs. Dorwood and daughter Marion, Mrs. Josiah Bodwell, Mrs. Knott, Miss Hattie Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moffatt, Miss Mary E. Beedle, Miss Bessie Sargent, Mrs. S. D. Crowell, Mrs. J. W. Jowett, Miss Reed, Mrs. Warren Hutchins, Mrs. Margaret Root, Mrs. Frank Remick, Miss Anna Remick.

METHUEN LOST.

Baseball teams representing the Lawrence and Methuen stores of Frederick & Bower lined up against each other in Webster's field, Pelham street, Wednesday afternoon and after a lively contest the Methuen boys were put to rout to the tune of 10 to 8. Fiercely was the battle fought up to the last half of the ninth inning when the score stood 8 to 7 in favor of the Methuen team. Then Lawrence spruced up. Two men got places on bases, and Clifford, mighty Clifford, took the bat. Bower, Methuen's able pitcher, tried one of his fancy outs but Clifford settled onto it and sent it "out" in fine style scoring a home run amid a howl of applause from the Lawrence supporters. This brought in three runs for Lawrence and won the game. There were other features which time and space will not permit to be mentioned. Suffice it to say that no such game has ever before been played in town and probably will never be played again until the two teams meet again to play the rubber. Methuen won last year and they are now even. The local boys claim that it was an umpire's battle with the odds against Methuen, Frank McDermott did all he could for Methuen but he had Prof. W. E. Ralton the well known dancing master against him and the Methuen boys allege the latter worked in some fancy steps which Mr. McDermott was unable to imitate. At any rate Lawrence won, and the professor got the credit for it whether he deserved it or not. The Methuen store was represented by the following players: G. Gordon, C. Messer, C. Foss, B. B. Gordon, W. Cookson, W. Bower, S. Covey, Gilcreast, Duhamel. The Lawrence team was made up of the following: McCarthy, Robinson, Donigan, Clark, Clifford, Garry, Kenison, Wolger, Weakley.

AFTER A FRANCHISE.

A hearing was held Monday night before the selectmen of Methuen on the petition of the Lawrence & Methuen Street Railway Co., for a franchise allowing the construction of a track from the Lawrence line out Jackson street extension and Howe street, thence over private land to connect with the line now in operation between Haverhill and Salem, N. H.

There was a large attendance of citizens present when the meeting was called to order by Chairman Bower of the board of selectmen. The other two members, Messrs. Marsh and Emerson were also present. Mr. Bower read the petition of the company and then Lawyer Fuller explainer the location and told what the company proposed doing. He said that the company had already secured the necessary franchises in Haverhill and Lawrence, and all they wanted now was the connecting piece in Methuen. He said that if the petition of the company should be granted, the line would be constructed as soon as the franchise should be approved by the railroad commissioners, as required by the new law. He said that one of the best roads in the state would be constructed, and the best service possible rendered. There would then be a through fast line to the North shore.

W. R. Whitney presented a petition signed by all but one of the residents on Jackson street and Howe street, asking that the franchise be granted.

Lawyer John P. Sweeney of Lawrence was the first speaker in opposition. He stated that he wanted it distinctly understood that he did not appear in the interests of the Boston & Northern street railway company, but as a citizen, and in the interest of one of the Methuen citizens, E. F. Searles. He pointed out that according to the law the only grounds upon which a franchise could be granted were the grounds of public necessity and convenience. This necessity was not apparent in this case, he said, as there was already another line running to Haverhill which was furnishing good service, or could be made to furnish good service. He claimed that the construction of this line would be of no advantage to the people of Methuen except those living along the line of the road. The street along which the petition asked for a franchise was one of the best travelling thoroughfares in the state, and had been macadamized at much expense to the town. He did not think it wise to allow it to be cut up and spoiled by a street railway when there was no more necessity for one than along this line. He therefore protested against the granting of the franchise and asked that the protest of the man whom he represented, Edward F. Searles, be recorded.

Several other speakers followed. One man advanced the argument that there was a necessity for another line to Haverhill on account of the kind of service furnished by the Boston and Northern road, which service he said was "no good."

Isaac C. Brown made a few remarks in favor of the franchise and he was followed by Frank Buckminster, who thought it would be a good thing to grant the franchise as it would increase the valuation of the property and lower the town tax rate. He did not think that one man should dictate to the rest of the town people what should be done.

George C. Cox thought it would be a good thing to those living in the vicinity of the line to have in constructed, as it would increase the value of the property, and permit the land owners to sell their property in house lots if they cared to do so. He thought the wishes of the residents of that section should be respected more, and have greater weight than those of one who would not be affected in any way by the construction of the line.

C. W. Mann objected to the granting of the franchise, and several others, including J. B. Mann and James Watts who spoke in favor of it. Lawyer Fuller made a spirited argument in answer to the points raised by Col. Sweeney, during the course of which he pointed out that the public at large would be benefited by the electric line while those who owned teams and automobiles and wished to use the road would not be inconvenienced. It was a beautiful road, he said, and should be opened up to the public by means of an electric line.

The hearing was declared closed shortly after 9 o'clock and the selectmen announced that they would take the matter under advisement.

IMPORTANT BUSINESS CHANGE.

An important business change has just been announced. G. C. Cannon, who has so successfully conducted Cannon's Commercial school for the past 22 years, has taken into partnership H. O. Keesling of Trenton, N. J., who has secured a high place among the commercial school educators of the country.

Cannon's Commercial College has been for the past twenty-two years one of the successful institutions of Lawrence. During that time it has been under the able and personal management of G. C. Cannon, who is well known to the people of Lawrence and vicinity. Mr. Cannon can point with pride, to hundreds of prosperous business men, who were once students in his school. The thorough instruction, kind discipline and valuable business pointers given by Mr. Cannon to these men while in school has done much toward shaping their careers, and his influence will wear out only with the lives of those who were fortunate enough to come under his care and training. His methods of instruction are different in many ways, from those of other teachers. As one student states it, "He has the happy faculty of explaining his work so clearly that anyone can readily understand it."

His long experience has, indeed, made him so familiar with common and commercial branches of study, as to place him high on the list of business educators. His reputation, however, does not lie altogether in his teaching ability, as he is conceded to be one of the best pen artists in the country. On the walls of his school are hung many beautiful pieces of pen work, that are models of design and execution. Probably there is no other school in the New England states, in which there are so many specimens of fine pen work, as may be found at Cannon's.

His discipline is kind, but firm, and it has always been his endeavor to have the students realize that they are ladies and gentlemen, and that they are to be treated as such.

With the beginning of the twenty-third year of the school, Mr. Cannon has taken into his business a partner, in the person of H. O. Keesling, a young man who has made for himself a position among the best known educators of the country. Mr. Keesling comes from Trenton, N. J., where he has had charge of the penmanship and book-keeping department of the Rider-Moore and Stewart School of Business, which is one of the largest institutions of its kind in the United States. He is a graduate of the Manual Training school at Indianapolis, Indiana, and received the highest grade of his class in the Commercial department. His work in this school was of such a high character, that he was chosen assistant teacher in the Commercial department of the school, in which capacity he remained one year, resigning to accept a position as principal of the Commercial department of Wartburg academy, Waverly, Iowa. Two years later he secured a position as principal of the Penmanship department of the Indianapolis Business university, and after two years of successful work in that school, he went to Trenton, N. J. Mr. Keesling is a penman of national reputation, and one of the strongest business writers in the country. He experiences little difficulty in changing the most awkward school boy-hand, into a neat, rapid business style; an accomplishment that has great market value.

The school will still be known as Cannon's Commercial college, and the principals are determined to put forth every effort toward making it a practical, up to date business institution. A cordiaal invitation is extended to the people of Lawrence and vicinity to call at the rooms of the school and become acquainted with the principals.

Every course of study is practical and thorough. The summer school for Grammar and High school students who failed to pass their grade, or who are deficient in any branch of study, fills a long felt need in Lawrence. The school is now in session, and will continue during the entire year. Students desiring to enter the Shorthand and Commercial department may do so at once, instead of waiting until the first of September, thus getting in direct line for a good position.

The new management will have the best wishes of all for the future prosperity of Cannon's Commercial College, and the prospect is bright for even greater success than has attended the institution in the past.

Business men are constantly calling on the principals of the school for young men and young women to take good paying positions, and no difficulty is experienced in placing students who are thoroughly qualified.

LAWRENCE WON CUP.

The season just terminated by the Lawrence High school baseball team has been one of the most successful seasons, in regard to the sporting side, in the history of baseball in the school. Although greatly hindered by the presence of a New England baseball team in the city, and by the non-support of some of the students of the school, the nine sailed with triumph and glory through the storm and secured as a precious prize, the silver cup, offered by the Essex Interscholastic Athletic association, for the championship team of the league. No other team in the history of the school has carried off and won for the school a trophy of the league.

The great honor for winning the cup and turning out a champion team lies in the captainship of the team. Michael O'Brien as captain labored assiduously for his colts and commencing in his work last February carried it on with success until the final game.

The manager, John J. Finnegan also put in much work but did not receive the support of the students of the institution in a financial way or the enthusiasm which should be shown by them with their presence at the games. Some of the managers of the teams with whom games were scheduled were also negligent in keeping their dates, and this in a measure hindered the team.

Michael O'Brien was a graduate from the school last year but returned to further fit himself for Dartmouth by pursuing a post graduate course. At a critical time the management was thrust upon him. During the season the team displayed great energy and won its best games although at times even the players themselves were discouraged.

Captain O'Brien has played on the team for three years and last fall was unanimously elected captain for the season just closed. He has always played catch and has been recognized as one of the best catchers in the league by the players of the contesting teams and the press. His batting record is in the lead of his team and his base running ability is well known. The team mates have great confidence in him, and his athletic ability is known and respected. He plays a clean game and encourages clean playing in his men.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrE, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free,

The school committee held a meeting at the residence of Miss Mary Carleton on Main street Tuesday afternoon. The appointment of teachers was attended to. Plans for the improvement of the sanitary conditions at the Merrimack school were considered. No definite decision in this matter was reached but the committee will meet again on next Friday afternoon. At the last town meeting the sum of $2,000 was appropriated for the purpose of this much needed improvement.

Accidents.

Frank Pressy of 117 Lawrence street while returning from his work about 5 o'clock on Monday evening met with an exceedingly bad accident which may prove fatal.

He is a carpenter employed by Contractor Dennis J. Costello and on Monday afternoon he was returning home by bicycle and when descending the steep grade at the corner of Green and Lawrence streets, the front forks of his machine broke, precipitating him without warning, head foremost upon the hard road. He struck with great force upon his head close to his left temple, he was rendered unconscious, and in this condition he was picked up by George H. Goodhue and Frank L. Bryant who were in the vicinity at the time of the accident. Placing the unfortunate man in a team he was taken to his home on Lawrence street where medical attendance was summoned. Dr. G. S. Allen was in attendance and everything possible was done for the injured man. The doctor pronounced that he would be unconscious for a period of six hours.

Mr. Pressy has lived in this town for many years and has a wife and two children. He is 45 years of age.

This morning Mr. Pressy had recovered somewhat from his fall but is as yet unable to talk. He is in a very precarious condition and his fall together with the shaking up seems to have affected him greatly.

SERIOUSLY ILL FROM ACCIDENT.

David H. Meserve of Walnuthurst, Andover street, is seriously ill at his home. On Thursday of last week he was driving into his barn with a load of baled hay. He was seated upon the top of the load and when he passed in at the door he stooped down low enough to escape the top of the door, as he thought, but, unfortunately, he was struck on the back of the neck in such a way that it bent him up double. He was rendered unconscious and in this condition he was removed to the house where medical attendance was quickly summoned. The doctor pronounced him to be in a very serious condition as his spine had been seriously affected and that part of his back had been twisted into the shape of a letter "S." He now lies at his home in a very precarious condition.

CLOSE CALL.

A case of recklessness which came nearly being a drowning accident, occurred at Perry's swimming hole in the Shawsheen river on Wednesday afternoon. There had been a large number of young boys in bathing at the place, but at the time of the accident, those who could swim were on the bank nearly dressed. A boy by the name of Collins living in South Lawrence, was enjoying a bath when he waded out over his depth. His danger was at once seen by all. He had gone down twice when Daniel McCarthy, son of Officer McCarthy of Railroad street, swam to the aid of the drowning boy and reached him just in time.

Wedding.

The following was taken from the Hyannis Patriot of Monday, July 7th, under the West Yarmouth notes:

STACY—BAKER.

At the Congregational church in West Yarmouth, Monday evening, June 30, one of the prettiest June weddings was solemnized, it being the marriage of Miss Dora Maynard Baker to Mr. Chester Ruggles Stacy, principal of the Merrimac school at North Andover. This is the first event of the kind that has taken place in the church since its dedication sixty-three years ago.

The church was beautifully decorated with trailing vines. The altar was banked with palms and ferns and lighted with one hundred candles, which made a beautiful background for the bridal party. Promptly at eight o'clock the groom and his best man, Thomas S. Crowell of Yarmouth, approached the altar. The bride, charmingly gowned in white satin en traine with garniture of rennaissance lace and tulle veil caught up with orange blossoms carrying a bouquet of bridal roses, entered upon the arm of her sister, Mrs. Ernest S. Bradford of Hyannis, handsomely gowned in mouseline de sole over green silk, who was matron of honor. Preceding the bride and her attendants were four ushers, Dr. Hinckley of Hyannis, Eben Phillips, principal of the Dennis High school, Mr. Rogers, principal of the Bradstreet school of North Andover, and Walter Chase of Hyannis, and the ring bearer, Miss Althea Bradford, the eight-year-old neice of the bride, daintily dressed in embroidered white muslin over pink silk. The double ring service was performed by the Rev. A. H. Mulnix of East Milton, assisted by Rev. E. C. Wheeler of Rockland and Mr. Joshua F. Crowell of West Yarmouth played the wedding march. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mrs. Josephine H. Stacy, Main street, West Yarmouth, mother of the groom. Mr. and Mrs. Chester R. Stacy were assisted in receiving by the groom's mother, matron of honor, and the little ring and flower girl. The rooms were decorated with vines and flowers, and in the parlor the mantel was decorated with asparagus vine embanked with roses and lighted with candles, in front of which stood the receiving party. The gifts were numerous and beautiful. Mrs. Joshua Crowell favored the company with a finely rendered song, "Call Me Thine Own," which was much enjoyed.

There were guests present from Lewiston, Me., Lawrence North Andover, Milton, Boston, Hyannis and surrounding towns.

CENTRAL MARKET COMPLETELY REMODELED.

The Central market of Water street, John F. Bennett, proprietor, has been completely remodeled both inside and out. It has been put in thorough repair and is now one of the most attractive markets in this section.

The front has been fitted with large plate glass windows of a most up-to-date appearance. These new windows are very spacious and allow of a most advantageous display of goods which hitherto Mr. Bennett has not enjoyed.

Passing to the interior of the store one finds that the arrangement of things has all been changed and laid out in a most convenient and attractive manner. The woodwork has been repainted in a scheme of cream with trimmings of black. This gives the market a very airy appearance. New spacious shelves and other furnishings have been added thus allowing of the display of a larger stock. A finely polished oak chest for the keeping of corned beefs has been added together with another chest of oak with curved glass cases for butter and other creamery products.

The office has been changed somewhat, being made larger and easier of access. A closet has been put aside for the use of clerks for the keeping of extra clothing.

Two fine delivery teams have been given routes about town.

BLUE STOCKINGS 23; OAK LEAVES 2.

In an exceedingly uninteresting and one sided game Saturday afternoon on Grogan's grounds, the Blue Stockings defeated the Oak Leaves of Methuen by a score of 23 to 2. Clements pitched a fine game with 13 strikeouts and only three bases on balls to his credit. He also made a home run at a time when two men were on bases. Three baggers were scored by Smith and Bolton. Rodes of the Oak Leaves was able to secure a two base hit. Healey of the Oak Leaves gave 10 bases on balls and struck out seven men. The game was umpired by Curley. The score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Oak Leaves	0	0	0	1	1	0	0	0	0	0—2
B. Stockings	2	6	3	2	2	1	3	3	1	1—23

The lineup of the teams was: Blue Stockings—J. Kelly, rf. Geaney 1b, Clements p, Smith 3b, Kelley c, Flanders lf, Hargreaves 2b, Bolton ss, Curley cf. Oak Leaves—Pedler 1b, Weekley c, Helaey p, Whelan 2b, Foster ss, Rodes lf, Connelly rf, Bird cf, and Pollard 3b.

The operations on the Haverhill and Andover street railway at the Haverhill end on Osgood street in the River district is reaching great proportions. The work is being pushed continually and without the usual rest upon Sunday. On Saturday of last week there were 177 men and 33 teams at work and on Sunday it is said that that number was greatly increased. The men at work are camping in tents in the vicinity of Highbridge brook. Starting at the top of the grade at Bassets a deep cut is being made, the railroad leaving the main road and cutting directly through the woods to the left. At the brook at the foot of the hill a large culvert is being installed. The operations extend from the top of the hill mentioned to a point within a half mile of the end of the Haverhill line which is in operation to the boundary line between Haverhill and North Andover.

BEAUTIFUL HANDS.

Small, slender hands, with pink, almond shaped finger nails are supposed to be evidence of good breeding.

What the poets have not written about beautiful hands and tapering fingers isn't worth mentioning.

Grace has a deal to do with lovely hands, but the first step in this line of beautifying is plain, everday cleanliness. Half the women about nine-tenths of the men of the world don't half wash their hands. This fluttering about in cold water and rubbing the moistened dust on the towel is a method which belongs only to the small boy to whom the washbowl and the soapdish are implements of cruel torture.

Hot water and soap is a pretty good combination. But it's not complete without a nail brush and prolonged effort. After half a day of shopping your hands need even more than a passing scrubbing; they should be soaked.

Fill a bowl with hot water; throw in a little borax and add a piece of pure white imported castile or whatever hygienic soap you prefer. Rub the nail brush over the soap, then get after the grimy finger joints. Rub the nails briskly. Get into the corners. Keep the suds foaming and alive. Let the brush take off something more than the top layer of dust. After this prepare a second suds and let your hands soak a moment or two. Follow with a final rinsing with wam borax water, dry on a soft old towel and look at your hands. Grime about the nails? No, indeed. Your hands are clean. And they are not clean if you wash them any other way.

A $1.25 COSTUME.

Great is Dr. Clara Bruce, who not only speaks in favor of dress reform but shows by her own apparel how a woman may appear to advantage in a plain gored skirt and white shirt waist with full sleeves"—and all for the insignificant sum of $1.25. Ours not to make reply, ours not to reason why—ours simply to say "Good girl, Clara, keep it up." When a woman demonstrates that she, or any other woman, can prance about, looking fresh, tempting and beautiful, in a dollar and a quarter outfit, we begin to scan the horizon for signs announcing the approach of the millennium. Such a costume as this, says Clara, in describing a girl's elaborate apparel, "deters deserving girls from taking a university course." More than that, it frequently deters a deserving old gentleman from buying a new and becoming and greatly needed straw hat.

You can nearly always judge a man's character by what he thinks laughable.

CIRCUMVENTING A TRUST.

"How much for this dressed chicken?" asked the customer, a resolute-looking man of middle age.

The butcher weighed the fowl, cut off the head and feet and began to wrap it up.

"Seventy-five cents," he said.

"Well, I don't pay 75 cents for no chicken," said the other. "You can hang it back on the hook."

Whereas he picked up the head and feet and threw them into his basket.

"You can sell the bird to some millionaire," he said as he turned to go. "I'll take these. They'll keep me in chicken soup for two days."—Chicago Tribune.

"HOME NURSING."

We have before us a copy of a new publication, entitled "Home Nursing." The object of the book is to give practical instructions how to take care of the sick by the inexperienced. In training schools for nurses, instructions are of course given in all matters of this kind, but let any woman ask herself, "Could I give a bath to a person in bed without wetting the clothing, or change the undersheet while the bed was occupied" and she will smile at the seeming impossibility; yet when she is shown, she will wonder that she did not discover the right way herself.

In this little book practical instructions are given for the performance of all necessary offices pertaining to the sick. The knowledge of any of them is not taken for granted, and the writer has tried to do it in such a plain, simple manner that no one need mistake the easiest way.

A sample copy of this valuable book can be had upon application to the publishers, Davis & Lawrence Co., 64 Grand street, New York City, enclosing to them 5c in stamps or coin to pay the expense of mailing, and stating the name of this paper.
